PORTLAND NURSERY June 2016 Class List for 9000 SE Division St 97266

See www.portlandnursery.com for full class list and to register online! Classes Free unless Otherwise Noted.

Saturday, June 4th 11am -12:30pm What to Do in the April Vegetable Garden with Donna & Robyn of Your Backyard Farmer
Get the dirt on year-round vegetable growing in this monthly to talk about vegetable gardening in the Pacific Northwest. Your backyard farmers will cover seasonal topics to help you improve your vegetable gardening skills and draw from their education and collective years of hands-on experience.

Sunday, June 5th 1-2:30pm Gardening with Water Loving Plants with Renee Stoops, Portland Nursery
Looking to improve your garden pond? Adding water loving plants is the perfect solution. Join our very own Renee Stoops for a lesson on what works in our climate and how to maintain your pond plants throughout the year.

Saturday, June 11th 1-2:30pm Canning 101 with Erin O'Neill and Joo Ree
Intimidated by the thought of canning? Fear not! Learn how to can like a pro and enjoy your summer harvest all winter. This demonstration class will teach you all the tricks and secrets your grandma never taught you.

Sunday, June 12th 11-12:30 Cultivating Our Garden with Marc Scheidecker
Cultivating Our Garden: After we "put in our garden" what should we be doing to get a great tasting harvest? Marc Scheidecker has observed hundreds of gardeners and their approach to growing vegetables. Come to the class and learn how we (including me) might improve our skills of cultivation.

Saturday, June 18th 1-2:30 Jam Making 101 Demo with Erin O'Neill and Joo Ree
Make your summer fruit last all winter when you learn how to can all your yummy fruits and berries. This is a basic class for beginners that will include a live demo! There is a $5 fee for this class and each student will go home with a jar of fresh jam

Saturday, June 18th 11-12:30 Permaculture 101 with Marc Scheidecker
Cultivating the Principles of Permaculture in Your Garden:
In our urban environment we are limited as to applying some of the principles of Permaculture. But, as Mohandas Gandhi once famously said: "What we can do, we shall try to do." Come to the class and learn about what Permaculture is and how we can apply some of it in our garden.

Sunday, June 19th 11-12:30 Vegetable Gardening with Children with Marc Sheidecker
Teaching your children how to grow their own food is one of the greatest gifts a parent can give to their child or, their grandchild. Marc Scheidecker, a full-time gardener, has had a children's garden in the Community Garden he managers for the last 6-7 years. Come to the class and listen to some observations and experiences.

Sunday, June 19th Iris Society Show

PORTLAND NURSERY June 2016 Class List for 9000 SE Division St 97266

See www.portlandnursery.com for full class list and to register online! Classes Free unless Otherwise Noted.

Saturday, June 25th 11-12:30 Hands On Raised Bed Gardening – every fourth Saturday of the month at 11am with Tiffany Garner, Portland Nursery
Join Tiffany in a monthly series held right outside at our own raised vegetable beds. Dress for the weather & learn what to do with your own raised beds, when you should be doing it & the proper techniques so you can work smarter, not harder. From cold frames to compost & seeds to starts you will learn and grow alongside our fabulous vegetable gardener.

Saturday, June 25th 10am – 4:30pm Willow Furniture Workshop $125 material fee / item.
Brian 'The Twig man' Phillips from the Willow Station, will take you through a step-by-step process allowing your creative juices to flow into a work that is unique to you! Choose to build your own rustic garden bench, chair, table, fern stand or trellis. All materials supplied, bring hammer, sack lunch, and knee pads. Pay instructor day of class. Class partners can share fee and build one piece between them. Select your item to build when registering.

Sunday, June 26th 11-12:30 Eat Your Medicine
Learn about ways to incorporate medicinal herbs into your everyday cooking with Missy Rohs, Arctos School of Herbal & Botanical Studies